THE [Numb. 876.]

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the lateſt Advices foreign and domeſtic.

THURSDAY, February 18, 1762.

LONDON, November 10.

The humble ADDRESS of the Right Hon. the LORDS SPIRITUAL and TEMPORAL, in Parliament aſſembled, November 6, 1761.

Moſt Gracious SOVEREIGN,

WE Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to return Your Majeſty our humble Thanks for Your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne.

It is impoſſible to approach Your Royal Preſence at this Time, without making our firſt Offering to Your Majeſty, of our moſt joyful Congratulations on the auſpicious Occaſion of Your Royal Nuptials. We want Words to deſcribe how warmly we are affected with an Event, ſo highly intereſting to Your Majeſty, and to all Your faithful Subjects; or to expreſs our Gratitude to Your Majeſty, for giving us a Queen, who whilſt She compleats Your Happineſs, promiſes, by every Virtue and amiable Accompliſhment, the greateſt Addition to that of Your People. May Heaven grant the longeſt Duration to this Felicity! And may it be attended with a numerous Progeny, to tranſmit the great Examples of their illuſtrious Parents, and perpetuate the Bleſſings of Your Reign to future Ages.

We thankfully acknowledge Your Majeſty's Goodneſs in communicating to us, that Overtures had been made, by the ſeveral Belligerant Powers, in order to a general Pacification; and by France, for a particular Peace between Your Majeſty and that Crown, whereupon a Negociation had followed, which is ſince entirely broke off. No other Proof could be wanting to us, that the Continuance of the War and the Effuſion of Chriſtian Blood, cannot, with any Shadow of Juſtice, be imputed to Your Majeſty, beſides the known Generoſity and Benevolence of Your own innate Diſpoſition.

Your Royal Wiſdom has appeared in nothing more, than in not ſuffering Your military Operations to be ſuſpended or delayed: And we beg Leave to congratulate Your Majeſty on the preſent ſignal Succeſſes of Your Arms. Beſides the important Conqueſts with which they have been bleſſed, Your Enemies have, in other Parts, been made once more to feel, that ſuperior Numbers cannot avail them againſt the ſuperior Capacity and Conduct of Your conſummate General Prince Ferdinand of Brunſwick, and the unſhaken Bravery of Your Officers and Troops. We cannot ſee, without Admiration, thoſe repeated Proofs of Magnanimity and Ability, which your great Ally, the King of Pruſſia, though ſurrounded with ſo many Difficulties, has given to the World.

Your Majeſty's Sentiments cannot fail to have the greateſt Weight with us, becauſe we are ſure that they proceed upon wiſe Principles, founded in the Love of Your People. It is therefore from Conviction, that we declare our humble Concurrence in Your Opinion, that it is neceſſary ſteadily to exert our moſt vigorous Efforts in every Part, where the Enemy may ſtill be attacked with Advantage.

We beg Your Majeſty to accept the ſtrongeſt and moſt affectionate Aſſurances, that we will, with the greateſt Zeal and Ardor, and at the Hazard of every Thing that is dear to us, ſtand by and ſupport Your Majeſty in proſecuting the War in the moſt effectual Manner for the Intereſt of Your Kingdoms, and in performing, to the utmoſt of Your Power, Your Engagements to Your Allies; nothing being more evident, than that this is the only Method to procure ſuch equitable and honourable Conditions of Peace, as may, with Reaſon, be expected from our Succeſſes.

We ſhould be greatly wanting to ourſelves, as well as to Your Majeſty, if we did not teſtify our particular Thanks for Your paternal Goodneſs, in having ſo expreſly declared, that both in carrying on the War, and in making Peace, no Conſideration whatſoever ſhall make You depart from the true Intereſts of theſe Your Kingdoms, and the Honour of Your Crown.

This Reſolution, ſo truly worthy of a Britiſh Monarch, and ſo engaging to all Your loyal Subjects, calls for adequate Returns on our Part. Penetrated with the livelieſt Senſe of Your unbounded Tenderneſs and Concern for our Welfare, we do, from the Bottom of our Hearts, aſſure Your Majeſty, that we will, with the utmoſt Duty and Zeal, correſpond to that Confidence which Your Majeſty repoſes in us; being fully perſuaded of the Neceſſity of Unanimity, Firmneſs, and Diſpatch, in the preſent critical Situation; and animated thereto, by the gracious Admonition of the beſt of Kings.

LONDON, October 30.

A private Letter from Embden, dated October 16.

DEAR SIR,

"YOU have no Doubt been already informed, by the public Papers, of the Calamities this Principality has groaned under for a Fortnight; but apprehending the Particulars of this ſad Affair will be more ſatisfactory to you, we give you the following true Account.

"The 22d of laſt Month the Marquis de Conflans, and M. de Campfort, with three Thouſand irregular Troops, took Poſſeſſion of the Country, as Lier, Weender, and Jemgum, and immediately plundered thoſe Places, as alſo the Farm Houſes adjacent. The 24th they advanced to Embden. Our Garriſon conſiſting but of 200 Invalids, of whom above 100 were ſick in the Hoſpital, could make no Reſiſtance; therefore they capitulated, and at Three in the Afternoon the Enemy took Poſſeſſion of the Town. The Capitulation was, that all Burghers and Inhabitants ſhould enjoy the ſame Rights and Privileges, without being in the leaſt moleſted or injured, as under the King of Pruſſia, and the Garriſon reputed as Priſoners, yet be at Liberty.

"But alas! before Night the Enemy had plundered all the Shops, particularly Silver and Goldſmiths. Poor Mrs. ———, who is lately married, and had a fine Shop of Silks, Velvet, and Lace, is totally ruined. At Night they quartered themſelves in the Houſes, where they ſpoiled all the Goods, and beat the People moſt cruelly. Our Father had 14 Huſſars in his Houſe, and did give them 100 Ducats; upon which they went away, and never more troubled him. My Brother Charles had 4 Grenadiers quartered upon him, who obliged him to give them each a new Watch and four Ducats, made very free with his Proviſions, would have Beef boiled in Butter as well as Fiſh, took out the Bungs of our Wine and Brandy Pipes, and let the Liquors run out; and at their Departure they ſet the Houſe on Fire, but it was happily extinguiſhed. I had three Huſſars, who the firſt Night behaved like Devils: Mrs. B. was obliged to ſit from Eight at Night to Six in the Morning upon the Top of our Warehouſe with my two Siſters; and ſhe being far advanced in her Pregnancy, you cannot imagine how glad I was that they did not ſee them. They have abuſed many Women and Girls, and there was no oppoſing it: If one made only gentle Remonſtrances, a Scar in the Face, or cutting off a Hand, was the Conſequence. At Five in the Morning, the Huſſars having done plundering my Houſe, went to Bed: At eight o'Clock, when Breakfaſt was ready, they awoke, and told me that I muſt cloath them directly. Not being able to get ſo much Scarlet and Crimſon, I was obliged to ſend to Groningen for eight Yards: I was alſo forced to find them new Shoes and Stockings, and then they wanted each 12 Ducats. After Dinner the Huſſars being obliged to go to the Guard-room, I took that Opportunity to eſcape with my Wife and Siſters through the Mud to a little Iſland called Neſterland, from whence we went in a ſmall Boat to Delfzyc, where we remained a Fortnight. My Father and Mother are yet at Delfzyc, and very ſick; I doubt they will not live to ſee Embden again. Many Inhabitants have already died of Frights. The Handkerchiefs and Lace I had bought of you ſaved me a good Deal of Trouble: The Huſſars would have Handkerchiefs, and no where could I get any; as they had plundered all the Shops. At laſt the Peaſants, ſome armed with Pitchforks, and ſome Flails, aſſembled to the Number of 4000, and marched againſt the Enemy: But there has been bloody Work; 135 Huſſars were killed, and all the Peaſants might have been ſlain, had they not made their Eſcape in the Trees and Moraſſes; but moſt of thoſe that got into the Trees were either killed or wounded. The Enemy reduced to Aſhes a little Village before Aurick call'd Hextum; and ſeveral Houſes, eſpecially the beſt, they forced the Inhabitants to pull down to the Ground. You cannot imagine with what Tyranny and Barbarity they behaved. Some Peaſants that fell into their Hands had their Bowels taken out, and then were blown up with Gunpowder. They cut off Womens Breaſts, ſalted them, and then made them eat them. Some Men they mutilated, peppered and fried what they had cut off, and made them eat the ſame.

"The Contributions they have raiſed are exorbitant. Embden has paid 60,000 Ducats, Lier 30,000, Weender 30,000, Jemgum, Norden, and Eſſens, 20,000 each; ſome Villages have paid 2000, ſome 1200, others 600, and 400. So that this Country, which had not felt the Ravages of War theſe four Years paſt, is now ſtripped bare and naked, and will hardly recover from this Blow in 40 Years. We have paid for our Share 600 Ducats, and are almoſt ruined. Were it not for our Houſes and Lands, Mills, &c. I would not ſtay a Day longer in the Country; but we can find no Purchaſers for them. The Huſſars alſo took from me two Horſes and three Oxen: My Uncle, who is a Dealer in Horſes, has had 43 taken from him; and many other People have they robbed of their Horſes and Cattle. I would have given you a more regular and exact Deſcription of our Calamities, but we are not yet ſettled and compoſed, therefore conclude with Compliments to, &c."

October 26. Worksſop Manor, the Seat of the Duke of Norfolk, which was burnt on Tueſday, was, by ſeveral Improvements made by the preſent Duke, thought to be the fineſt Seat in England; there were 500 Rooms in it, and the Damage is ſuppoſed to amount to upwards of 100,000 l.

Nov. 2. Thoſe who are moſt forward in blaming Mr. P. for reſigning, have not preſumed to diſapprove of the Counſel he gave, to demand from Spain a Copy of her Treaty with France. Several Attempts have been made to induce the Public to believe that Spain hath entered into no new Engagements with France; but this hath never been aſſerted in expreſs Terms. If there be no new Treaty, why did not the Perſon, who drew up the famous Article from Madrid, in the Gazette that followed Mr. P's Reſignation, ſay ſo? And if there be nothing in the new Treaty prejudicial to England, why is it not publiſhed, in Juſtification of that Majority which rejected Mr. P's Motion?

Nov. 5. They write from Exeter, that at a Chamber held on Friday laſt at Guildhall, it was unanimouſly agreed to inſtruct their Repreſentatives in Parliament on the preſent intereſting Criſis of our national Affairs; and a Committee was appointed to draw up the ſame.

It was alſo unanimouſly agreed, That the Thanks of that Body be given to the Right Hon. William Pitt, late one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, for the great and eminent Services rendered to his King and Country; which the Committee was alſo deſired to draw up.

To JOHN TUCKFIELD, and JOHN WALTER, Eſqrs.

Gentlemen,

THE Inſtructions of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of London, to their Repreſentatives in Parliament at this Juncture, are ſo agreeable, and ſo intirely coincide with our Sentiments, that we deſire you will both uſe your utmoſt Endeavours to obtain the ſalutary Ends that they have wiſely recommended; Points (we think) eſſentially neceſſary to the Honour, Proſperity, and Preſervation of Great-Britain.

As our Acquiſitions in North America, and the Preſervation of our invaluable Fiſheries in particular, are of the utmoſt Importance to the Kingdom in general, and more particularly ſo to this City, and the Ports adjacent: We earneſtly recommend to you to oppoſe all Schemes for reſtoring to our inveterate Enemies, any Place that, in its Conſequences, may either injure or weaken our Security there, or add Strength to them, by any Re-eſtabliſhment of their naval Power:——A Power, however great at the Beginning of this War, by the glorious Succeſs of His Majeſty's Arms, is now almoſt dwindled to Contempt.

EXETER, October 30, 1761.

At a Chamber held this Day at the Council-Chamber of the Guildhall of the ſaid City, the following Reſolution was unanimouſly agreed to.

RESOLVED,

THAT the Thanks of this Body be given to the Right Hon. William Pitt, late one of his Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, for the important Services rendered this Kingdom during his happy Adminiſtration of public Affairs: And to aſſure him, that they ſhall ever retain an exalted and grateful Senſe of his Merit and great Abilities, whoſe Wiſdom, and truly Britiſh Spirit, animated and excited the Hearts of the Nation when ſunk into a State of Timidity and Deſpondence; reſtored its ancient Luſtre, and raiſed our commerical Intereſt, together with our military Glory, to a Sublimity of Dignity and Honour, never experienced, nor even known before.

Ever firmly loyal to our King and Country, we cannot, therefore, but bewail, at this grand Criſis, the national Loſs of ſo able and upright a Miniſter.

Nov. 12. The Magiſtrates and Town-council of the Burgh of Stirling, in Scotland, having met at their Council-houſe, unanimouſly Reſolved, that an Addreſs ſhould be preſented to the Right Hon. William Pitt, Eſq; for his paſt ſignal Services to his Country, and that he ſhould be requeſted to continue to act up to the ſame patriot Principles, which have ſo eminently diſtinguiſhed him; and appointed a Committee of their Number to prepare the ſaid Addreſs to be ſigned by their Preſes, and tranſmitted to their Member of Parliament to be by him delivered.

NEW-LONDON, January 8.

Captain Hinman, in a Brig from St. Croix, informs us, That about the beginning of December laſt, in the Night, a Number of Negroes, ſuppoſed about an Hundred, having ſome Small Arms with them, took Poſſeſſion of a Schooner belonging to St. Croix, which lay back of that Iſland, and ſteered for Port Rico; but being purſued by three armed Veſſels, one of them fortunately came up with them, when the Negroes defended themſelves very reſolutely for a conſiderable Time, but finding they were likely to be overpowered, they threw the Captain of the Schooner over board, and then the whole of them followed, excepting Six, who were carried back, and put to Death.

NEW-YORK, January 18.

The Rocheſter Man of War, Captain Burnet, having 11 Sail of Veſſels under Convoy, Tranſports and Merchantmen included, left the Hook on Wedneſday laſt, with a fair Wind, for the Weſt-Indies.——There are three or four other Tranſports preparing to follow, under proper Convoys.

Yeſterday Capt. Fairley arrived here from Madeira: A few Days ago he ſpoke with a French Polacca Ship, a Prize belonging to the Letter of Marque Brig Mars, Captain M'Gillcudy, of this Port, which he took about four Weeks ſince: He was bound from Martinico for France, loaded with 200 Hogſheads of Sugar.

January 21. The Storm on Sunday the 10*th Inſtant, has made prodigious Deva ſtations in ſeveral Parts of the Government of New-Jerſey. Five or ſix Mill-Dams, on the Branches of Raway River, and ſome Bridges, are entirely deſtroyed, as alſo four Mill-Dams upon one ſmall Stream in the Weſt Part of Woodbridge: A fine new Bridge, built laſt Summer, and but juſt finiſhed in the Fall, which coſt above* 300 l. acroſs Rariton River, at a Place called Bound-Brook, was ſwept away, and ſome Pieces of it found 30 Miles below: At New-Brunſwick, and the Landing, the Water was all over their loweſt Streets, and many Stores and other Houſes, with Goods therein, damaged.——As there had been Snow on the Ground, and a Thaw of three or four Days before the Storm came on, the Sea-Water riſing ſo high, prevented the Freſhes going off ſo ſpeedily as it otherwiſe would, and the great Rains falling at the ſame Time, gives Room to think that more Damage is done throughout the Country, than we yet have Account of.

The following is a Copy of a Poſtſcript to a Letter, from a very eminent Merchant in London, to a Gentleman of this City, dated Nov. 16, 1761.

"The Thoughts of Peace are baniſhed, and all the Letters from Spain, this Day, are full of their Apprehenſions that we muſt come to a Rupture with that Court."

WILLIAMSBURG, January 15.

The Randolph, Walker, in five Weeks and five Days from London, is arrived in James-River; alſo the Virginia-Packet, Donaldſon, from the ſame Port, in York River. Theſe Ships left Plymouth the 26th of November, under Convoy of the Deptford Man of War, bound to the Weſt-Indies.

The Hannah, Shannon, from Patowmack, for Glaſgow, was ſpoke with 40 Leagues to the Eaſtward of the Capes, all well.

The Cheſterfield Man of War was to ſail for Virginia the firſt of December, with ſuch Ships as were ready to come with her; and we hear ſhe will ſtay here until May, in Order to convoy home the Trade from this Colony and Maryland.

ANNAPOLIS, February 18.

Lately Died in Cæcil County, Mr. FRANCIS MAULDIN, one of the Repreſentatives of that County.

The Boat which we mentioned a Fortnight ago, to be run aſhore at the Cliffs, proves to be the ſame as was ſuppos'd: There were eight Perſons in her, of which one Woman, (the Wife of Henry Baldwin) and three of her Children, periſh'd. A few Days after, when a Number of People went to get off the Boat, which was near and juſt under a high Cliff, one of them call'd out to the reſt, and told them he heard a Crack in the Cliff, on which they haſtily left her, and had but juſt got away when a large Body of it, ſuppos'd to be about 40,000 Weight, fell, and ſmaſh'd the Boat to Pieces; but none of the People were hurt.

WHEREAS Joſhua Atherton, late of the County of Lancaſhire, in Great-Britain, came into this Province under Indenture, and cannot be heard of: Theſe are to acquaint him, that by Application to either of the Subſcribers, or at the Printing-Office, he will hear of ſomething greatly to his Advantage.
